WELCOMES

Los Angeles County

Sheriff's Department

The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department (LASD), Mental Evaluation Team (MET), is a national leader in crisis intervention and mental health response. The MET provides compassionate, respectful, and effective crisis response and intervention services to individuals experiencing mental health crises.

MET training initiatives raise empathy and mental health awareness within the LASD. Deputies are trained in the ROAR (Respond, Observe, Assess, React) response model for crisis stabilization and de-escalation.

LASD MET provides deputies with self-care and resilience training essential for the first responders who frequently face high-stress situations and vicarious trauma. By maintaining their well-being, they are better equipped to navigate the complexities of mental health crises, ultimately promoting public safety, and fostering a more compassionate approach to crisis response.

LASD MET has trained police and supporting agencies across the western United States. This upcoming event marks their first lecture on the east coast. The LASD MET will not only be delivering their flagship course but also assisting Pennsylvania in the creation of a similar training program. Please join us for this exciting, free-of-charge training and course development opportunity.
